

For the Lady of Learning Yale Makes
"The Ideal Husband." At the Waldorf, March Fourth Next.

Photos by White.

Wiman, D. D., '18
carrots fine, the leading lady.
Pearls by himself.

D. S. Moore, disguised as Mabel Chiltern. He is now composing "Tut, Tut, Haughton."

"Votes for Men!"
O. B. Jennings, al ways right; A. C.
Crunden, male; A.
Wiley, person left last.

Presenting the Duchess of Basildon, otherwise know as Oh Be Jennings.

Anyway, it's a Hanway.
W. A., as Lady Chiltern Clides.

Tea from a tray, or the Oo long entre—Three trays; isn't O. B. a Cunningham? and Lovett an R. A.? Ask Elkin, D. C. Holding dish, H. Lyman; skirts, W. A. Hanway.